

Kathleen Hudson dwells in the realm of possibilities where one can choose a path, create a destiny, and change reality by altering thoughts and language.

She has had extensive training with the Landmark Forum, over 50 years of teaching experience, three academic works published (pictured below), and an eclectic background of experiences. She is full of insight and knows how to creatively redefine reality by changing the context of the situation.

Dr. Kathleen Hudson, Ph.D. also works in the English Department of Schreiner University in Kerrville, Texas. She founded the Texas Heritage Music Foundation out of a commitment that

“Stories and songs make a difference in the world”

Explore the Possibilities

Possible Audiences:

Teachers

(workshops/seminars/motivational)

Corporate

(communication/workshops/motivational)

Writers

(Creative writing, motivational, inspirational)

Students

(Being a master student/communication/writing)

Women’s Groups

(Archetypes of women in life and literature)

“From luncheon speaker to seminars to consulting, I enjoy sharing my passion for life through various topics.”

Presentations can range from one hour to a three day training session

Kathleen personalizes every presentation to cater to the audiences specific interests.

More than Motivational... ...Transformational

Possible speaking topics

- Methods of Teaching: Using the creative process as a foundation
- Native American Learning stories in the classroom
- Motivation for Teachers: Using your life as a resource
- Oral History and the Classroom
- Texas Music: Stories and songs make a difference
- Power of Stories: For teachers and students
- You Are What You Say: The power of stories in education
- Creative Teaching: Using creative writing in all classrooms
- Women’s Voices: In story and in song
- Pop-Culture and Texas Music
- Communication and Creativity
- Context grinds up content
- Dr. Hudson addresses the audience in her famous Chautauqua lecture style and alter ego Belle Starr as she talks about women and Texas
And many more!:

The spiral is a symbol of eternity, the endless cycle of life, death, and rebirth. It is an unbroken reminder that there is no end to transformation -that change is the only constant.